

SHORTCUT SHEET

USING Co:WRITER AND INTELLITALK TOGETHER

Co:Writer™

Co:Writer is a word prediction program. It works in conjunction with most other software programs that accept text input.

IntelliTalk™

IntelliTalk™ is an auditory feedback word processing program. It is a stand alone word processor that can be used in conjunction with Co:Writer. It does not have spell checking abilities.

TO USE

(For ease of operation aliases of the applications are placed into the Apple Menu Folder)

1. Go to the Apple Menu and then click on Co:Writer
2. Go to the Apple Menu and then click on IntelliTalk
3. Press the = key

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

1. Co:Writer automatically sends text to the open word processor when an ending punctuation or a return is typed. It then returns the typist to Co:Writer™ when the next keystroke is entered.
2. To go between word processor and Co:Writer press the = key.
3. Remember to save your work in the word processor!
4. In general it is best to do most editing within the word processor. To edit a sentence in Co:Writer you must use the delete key. You cannot click on a word within a sentence to change it.
5. Co:Writer will automatically "learn" words as typing takes place. If you have a student who is entering many words that may be spelled incorrectly you can go to Edit and Edit Dictionaries. In that mode you can delete acquired words that are misspelled and replace them with same words, so that it learns the vocabulary, but spelled correctly. This is the same place to go if you want to add some topic specific vocabulary.

6. You may want to change the speech feedback characteristics for editing modes. Use the Speech menu to make those adjustments.
